Weekend starter

A one-folder Next app I use when the idea is still smaller than a pitch deck.

What you get

- App router, one database, one auth screen
- A deploy that finishes before dinner
- No component library to argue with

What you do not get

- A design system
- A billing integration
- My phone number

Unzip it. Rename the folder. Delete the sample route before you show anyone.

The first hour

1. Copy .env.example. Fill the database URL.
2. npm install, then npm run dev.
3. Change the name in site.ts before you commit.
4. Deploy. If the build fails, read the log once before you change three things at once.

I wrote this on a Sunday so I would stop rebuilding the same five files. If it saves you the same Sunday, that was the point.
